About Us

Our Firm

Dexis Consulting Group is a performance management and international development consulting firm with more than 15 years of experience strengthening systems for the U.S. Government and across developing economies to address some of the world's greatest challenges.

Committed to our mission of providing innovative management and technical solutions for a secure and prosperous world, we focus on delivering exceptional monitoring, evaluation, and learning expertise; program management and support services; and development and diplomacy project implementation.

With a global reach and proven track record in complex and challenging environments, we specialize in creating custom-tailored, adaptable, and effective solutions for the U.S. Government and multilateral organizations. Our work targets support and interventions in agriculture, countering violent extremism, economic growth, education, democracy and governance, and health.

We are made up of a diverse, global team with both deep and wide-ranging technical expertise, in-depth understanding of our clients' challenges, and can-do attitudes. In our daily work, we develop new ideas and ways of doing things; we are solution-oriented and passionate about what we do.

We are devoted to continuous improvement and have an unwavering commitment to gold-standard management practices, demonstrated by our ISO 9001:2008 certification. As one of the leading monitoring, evaluation, and learning practitioners for USAID and the U.S. Department of State, we bring this expertise to bear in everything we do, continuously seeking to measure, adapt, and improve.

“ (Dexis has) provided quality expertise and have been incredibly flexible with the demands of international development. This contract is not straightforward... This contract deals with people, a variety of cultures and interests. Dexis has handled every turn with care and precision. ”
